RPA Annual Membership Meeting and Conference Slated for Sept. 18 in Chicago

Mokena, Ill. (May 1, 2012) — The Radiant Professionals Alliance (RPA) will hold its annual Membership Meeting and Conference in Chicago on Tuesday, Sept. 18. This conference will be co-located with Penton's Mechanical Systems Week, giving RPA members and other mechanical industry leaders the opportunity to gather for networking, education, professional recognition and the advancement of radiant/hydronic technologies.

Conference attendees will enjoy two education sessions, a general membership meeting, an open board meeting and an early evening reception, where the winners of the 2012 System Showcase competition will be announced.

"It's an exciting time to be part of the new, revitalized RPA," said Kathleen Mihelich, RPA director. "The Membership Meeting and Conference will be the perfect opportunity for RPA members to meet and talk with RPA's new Board of Directors and Officers, see and hear all about the RPA's plans for the members, participate in educational seminars about radiant systems and touch base with industry peers."

In addition to the two educational seminars during the RPA's conference, the RPA will present seminars for Mechanical Systems Week and will host a booth in the Mechanical Systems Week Expo. The RPA has signed on as an endorsing partner in Mechanical Systems Week, Sept. 19-21, at the Schaumburg Convention Center in Schaumburg, Ill., which offers significant benefit to RPA's members, including a 15 percent discount on Product Showcase booth space, reduced conference registration of $300 (regular rate is $495), and a hotel room block rate of $159. This must-attend event includes a showcase of business and technical seminars, product displays, hands on training, networking and social events and special keynote speakers for the national HVACR, hydronics, and plumbing industry.

Save the date or register now for the RPA Membership Meeting and Conference (separate from Mechanical Systems Week registration). The registration fee is $125 for RPA members, $150 for non-members. To receive the special discounts for Mechanical Systems Week, go to www.radiantprofessionalsalliance.org and click on the annual conference link.
