RPA Continues to Work With Federated Mutual Insurance

Ontario, CA (October 13, 2017) - The Radiant Professionals Alliance (RPA) continues to work with Federated Insurance as the exclusive insurer for the RPA's contractor members' property and liability, workers compensation, and Financial Protection Services. RPA members had been seeking such a benefit provider to enhance their businesses and protect their bottom line.

Federated is recommended by numerous local, state, and national contractor associations, and Federated's products and services are tailored to suit each individual contractor's needs. Services now available to RPA members include:

- A no-obligation comparison of their existing policy and coverage
- Risk management support programs, such as drug and alcohol testing, distracted driving policies, hiring practices, and more
- No-cost Risk Management Academy training
- A business valuation to determine what their business is worth
- A consultation with an attorney pre-qualified for business succession and estate planning

Federated is an A+ rated (Superior) by A.M. Best® organization that has been protecting businesses for more than 100 years. Its mission is to provide value to both associations and their members.

“As a former contractor and expert witness, I can tell you that many contractors are under-insured, or improperly covered. Business owners owe it to themselves and their companies to allow Federated to give them an insurance review (at no charge) to make sure that their businesses and assets are properly covered” said Les Nelson, Vice President of Radiant Professionals Alliance.
